

1	Chapter 1 Invitation to Reggio Emilia
2	The things we liked the most
4	Entering Arcobaleno and Neruda
5	Nido Arcobaleno: A transparent space
7	Scuola Pablo Neruda: Negotiating the boundaries
11	Conclusion
13	Chapter 2 Leaning on Knowledge
14	Introduction
15	Reggio Emilia: An educational project
15	Early education in Italy: Contexts of hope
17	Reggio Emilia: A cultural project
19	Participation
19	Rights
21	The image of the child
22	The theory of 'The Hundred Languages'
22	Pedagogy of relationships and listening

24	Progettazione
25	The atelier
26	The environment
28	Reggio Emilia today
29	The 0–6 Project: Nido Arcobaleno and Scuola Pablo Neruda
29	The 0–6 educational project
31	Nido Arcobaleno
33	Scuola Pablo Neruda
33	Places for children: What do we call them?
36	A school that speaks: Pedagogical documentation
38	Quality as meaning making
43	Community of Learners
47	Conclusion
49	Chapter 3 Entering Reggio Emilia
50	Understanding their understanding
51	The semiotics of entering
54	Arcobaleno: Interpreting entering
67	Scuola Pablo Neruda: Interpreting transparency
74	The interdependent values
83	Chapter 4 The Value of Rich Normality: The Extraordinary in the Ordinary
84	Expressing rich normality: Daily life in the Grandi classroom
88	Interpreting rich normality: Glance as a prerequisite to meaningful documentation
91	Inviting others to share a rich normality lens
96	The history of rich normality
98	Rich normality as a special right
100	Conclusion

103	Chapter 5 The Value of Narrative
104	The Last Paratrooper to Land: The right to learn in a community
119	Stories, drawings, and signs: Narrative in a panel
128	The Ghost-Horse: Intimate connections
131	Conclusion
135	Chapter 6 The Value of Memory
136	Memory as transformation
137	Memory as a place for finding yourself
141	Memory as the social construction of knowledge
145	The daily journal as individual and shared memory
153	Conclusion
157	Chapter 7 The Value of Locality
158	The value of time: A brief sketch of a day
159	The value of time in the words of the protagonists
165	A collective sense of locality: School as a place that belongs to children
167	Conclusion
171	Chapter 8 The Value of Identity–Relationship
172	Hunting for words
176	Building belonging: The daily journal in the infant–toddler centre
180	Co-responsibility: ‘Quiet, quiet’, Matteo says
183	Conclusion
187	Chapter 9 The Value of Transparency–Democracy
188	To stop for a moment
192	From far away and from close up

193	Creating a democratic forum: ‘What do we have it for if we don’t do anything with it’
197	Conclusion
199	Chapter 10 The Value of Language
200	Every possible use of words
202	The hurdles of interpretation
204	The bilingual conundrum
208	Transformational dialogue
214	Effective dialogue in the present and the future
216	The soul that’s inside somebody else
220	‘You are speaking his language’: Special rights in relationships
239	Conclusion
241	Chapter 11 The Value of Beauty–Aesthetics
243	Spaces speak of beauty
249	Beauty as a promise of happiness
252	Concluding thoughts: Documentation as an act of empathy
254	Final words from Reggio Emilia: The stories I was moved to tell
259	Chapter 12 Theoretical Propositions: ‘The Boundary is a Smoke’
261	Introduction: What are connective values?
268	Theoretical propositions
268	Encounter
271	Interdependency
275	Interconnectedness
281	Difference
284	Transformation
287	Intent
291	Research

298 Uncertainty

304 Complexity

308 Possibility

312 Conclusion

315 Chapter 13 Metaphors for Quality

316 The meta-pattern

318 Searching for a metaphor

321 Towards a new culture of quality

324 Conclusion: The right to hope